It is not that submission, or Dominance, is a gift, in and of itself. It is that it is a gift for either to be offered up and dedicated to someone else. Both involve laying oneself bare for another, and taking on great responsibility. Both are to be handled by the recipient with care, and respect. They are not merely gifts, they are the greatest of them. They are that which, for some of us, feeds the soul.

Slave- These are the s types who are 24/7. Their corresponding d types are Masters.

Other Terms

Switch- Switches are those who have flexibility in their role. They can be either be s types or d types in or out of the bedroom. Most often they switch based upon their mood, but it can also just be a switch because of their current partner's behavior.

Sadist- s type or d type who finds general excitement and/or sexual arousal with the consensual infliction of pain

Masochist- s type or d type who finds general excitement and/or sexual arousal with the consensual receiving of pain

SadoMasochist- combination of sadist and masochist

Bratty- This is a descriptor for an s type or a d type who enjoys pushing limits, not to the point of disrespect. Their behaviors are playful, often in an almost child-like way. For an example, an s type who knows their d type hates their lip being bitten, so they nibble it in a playful way to annoy them a bit or get a tiny rise that leads to a session.

Dominant Types

Master- Usually this term refers to a d type who is 24/7 in and out of the bedroom in control

Dom(me)- Usually this term refers to a d type who is just in control in the bedroom. There are both soft and hard dom(me)s. Soft usually prefer a reward basis of correction. Hard usually goes for a punishment based basis of correction.

Caregiver (daddy/mommy)- This can be in the bedroom, but can also not be, or can be both! These types of dynamics can be on the lighter end or can get "kinkier" which thing such as diaper play.

Brat Tamer- This dynamic is usually very controversial in TOG. This d type is one who thrives off of correcting behavior, to the point of disrespect, from an s type. They don't per say enjoy the disrespect, they enjoy the correcting of the behavior and the intense bond that is built from it. I have used the example of a Brat Tamer as one who "breaks a wild horse".

Submissive Types

Submissive (sub)- This is a general term that usually indicates a bedroom s type

Service Sub- This is a term that indicates an s type that enjoys serving in a way that involves things such as chores and errands, these dynamics always consist of out of the bedroom things, but can include in the bedroom as well.

Alpha Sub- This term has two different meanings. The first is indicative of an s type who is normally very dominant in relationships, workplace, etc., but is very submissive in the bedroom. The second is indicative of a sub that in a room full of other subs, will take the lead. While they may seem dominant, they need direction. Think of it in the sense of the military, a first sergeant is the d type, the platoon leader is the alpha sub, and the members of the platoon are the other s types.

Littles (baby boy/baby girl)- Littles are s types who engage in age regression. Their corresponding s types are Caregivers.

Brat- This term refers to an s type who needs a very patient, commanding d type to correct their behavior. Their corresponding d types are Brat Tamers. Their disrespectful behavior is often controversial, but it is an expression of their almost emotional masochism. They want to be punished. They want someone to break them down to submission usually resulting in an extremely well behaved slave as their testing of the limits and the Brat Tamers unwavering dominance creates an unbreakable level of trust. These are the eventual slaves that you may see being loud and rowdy at a munch who you would think were d types by their behaviors until their Brat Tamer says their name and they snap into an unrecognizable submission. see the notes above

Factors that led to the creation of TNG

-The internet
-Early sexual development in combination with....
-No access to BDSM educational material
-A decline in the appeal of longterm relationships
-An incline in the appeal of sexual dynamics, specifically short term, and a quick replacement of that dynamic if it is ended
-Fast paced society

What I feel the FAQ will be:

Why were you participating in BDSM at such a young age?

So here's the thing- we didn't know it was BDSM. After talking to a few people in their early twenties to mid 30s, I've figured out that a lot are pretty much in the same boat on that topic. We were just kinky from the time our sexuality developed, some, like me, even before! And as we know, sexuality develops much faster than it used to.

Why were you participating in BDSM online with strangers?

I don't know how to answer that other than, "Those were/are the times." It was and is normal now to meet people online. The only difference was, we were underage then. Being underage isn't going to stop anyone from exploring their sexual interests. Being overage and not educating these kids though, THAT'S what is dangerous. They'll be like my friend and be so curious that if they aren't given the knowledge they need, they end up left to predators who entice them with knowledge and then truly abuse them.

Why are labels so important to TNG?

Labels help us better understand what a persons likes and dislikes are. Because of the factors stated above, we don't have time to spend months weeding through people to find one that fits our interests. Having a longer, more clear list of terms saves us time and limits the list of potential interests. So, let's say we want a nonsexual submissive who enjoys doing house chores. Instead of going through 100 profiles that say just "sub", we can go through 5 that say "service sub" and then just try and get to know those 5 to see if we click.

To begin, all BDSM relationships have a baseline of one thing, CONSENT. Even in CNC play, it says "consensual, non-consent". I think most, whether TNG or TOG, are going to agree safe words are a must. If you can't speak, then a safe action. Now, as most can agree to those baselines, let us dig into the terms as described by many of those who are true TNG!

The New Generation of BDSM- Terms List and Other Notes

I'd like to preface this by saying that I am not the only being that gets to have an input on these terms. If you consider yourself The New Generation, "TNG", and have an idea to help better describe a term listed to educate or one that needs to be added- please feel free to PM me. As well as, if you have a question, no matter what walk you come from within or outside the BDSM Community, feel free to ask it!

BDSM is an ever changing and growing thing, just as the rest of the world is. That being said, it only makes sense that we can expect developments in how the arrangements, labels, etc. appear. I hope that by providing this information, it can not only help someone new to kink find what fits them, but also be able to help The Old Guard, "TOG", understand why TNG exists as what all it entails. All of this is strictly my opinion. Every dynamic is different and of value. As long as you're being Safe, Sane, and Consensual, do you!!

To give you a background as to why I think TNG exists, I'm going to give you a little info on my background. I first became interested in kink around the age of 15. I had a friend online who was also 15 and we loved to get together and wear our little cat ears and have playdates via video chat. We met on an Instagram page ran by another girl our age who also was interested in what is now called "pet play", but at that time for us it was completely nonsexual. We were just 3 girls who liked to dress up as cats and forget the world while we played with balls of yarn. As we got older and those nonsexual playdates over video chat turned to sexual ones, we came across other pages on social media that were sexual pet play. We tried interacting to learn and because we were underage- we were shut down and left to figure it out ourselves, which led to one of my friends getting hurt eventually by a boy a couple years older than her. It was the same result as the schools in my little bible belt town giving us "abstinence" as the only form of sexual education. And they wonder why just about 6 girls every year got pregnant!! Getting shut out by TOG resulted in us browsing through hours of porn and hole in the wall websites or forums that had mention of pet play. I believe most young adults feel as if their knowledge of BDSM was found out the same way. Because of that, we had a plethora of information on how BDSM dynamics all across the world were done, but only bits and pieces. No-one wanted to sit down with three 16 year old girls and spill the beans on what their dynamic consisted of for fear of getting in trouble! This is why I feel TNG was even created in the first place- groups of teens from all over different social media platforms all across the world came together and made up our own version of BDSM because no-one would help us figure it out.

PERFORMATIVE-BASED SEX

- Penetration (with a penis, fingers or dildo) is the main act
- Sex ends with ejaculation
- Often includes rigid expectations of partners or own body
- Sexual encounters may feel like you're following a script or routine
- May feel anxious about not having an orgasm
- May feel anxious about not satisfying a partner
- May include tolerating pain or discomfort
- Limited clear communication
- Focus of attention is on thoughts aka "stuck in your head"

pleasure centred
SEXOLOGY

PLEASURE-BASED SEX

- Includes multiple activities
- Agreement of what sex includes is decided in collaboration
- Regular check-ins
- Orgasm a bonus but not central/required
- May include use of all body parts and accessories
- Arousal allowed to come before desire
- Does not require or expect anything from any persons body (eg no erection, vaginal wetness, specific body type, ability or skill level needed)
- Ends when any person wants it to end
- May look different each time or include regular pleasurable activities
- Focus on physical sensations

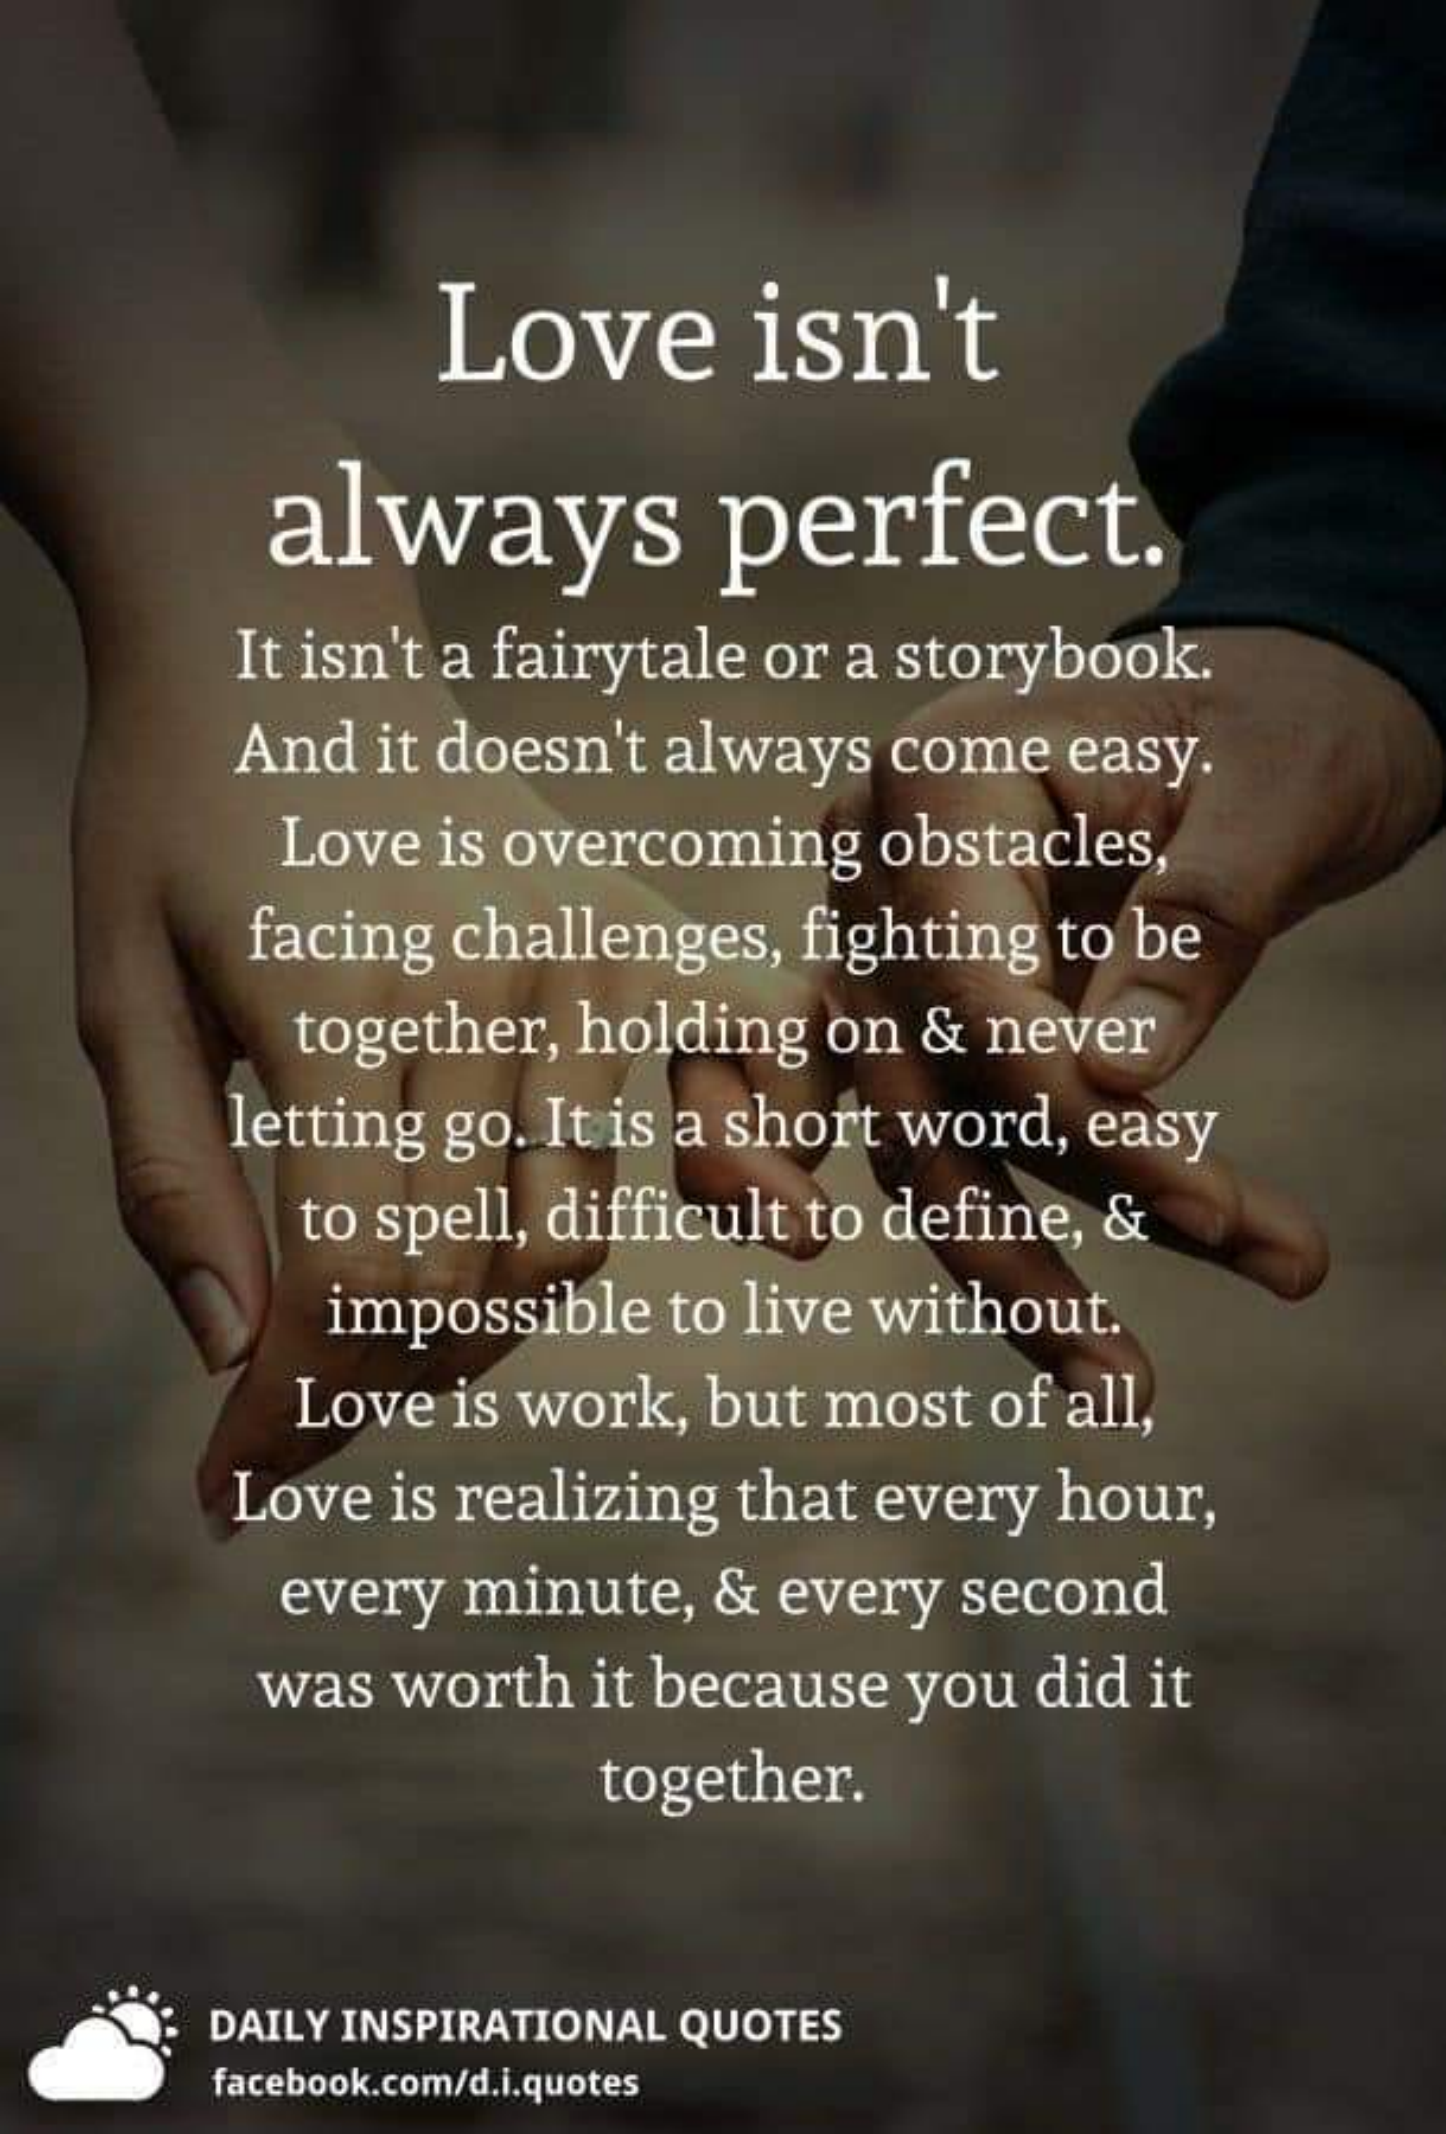
Songs about Submissive Men

Remember to wear your face mask



Love isn't always perfect.
It isn't a fairytale or a storybook. And it doesn't always come easy. Love is overcoming obstacles, facing challenges, fighting to be together, holding on & never letting go. It is a short word, easy to spell, difficult to define, & impossible to live without. Love is work, but most of all, Love is realizing that every hour, every minute, & every second was worth it because you did it together.

If Dominance is an act of setting someone free,
and Submission is an act of willfully
devoting oneself to another,
then who is the captor and who is the captive?
A leash after all has two ends,
both of which must be held.
Ultimately, Dominant and Submissive
are bound to one another not by chains
but by their own need,
and the mutual fulfillment of those needs.
We do for one another what no one else can or will.
We are here by choice
and by choice we stay.

21. Thread the rope under both shoulder straps

22. And pull through

23. Then down under the lower chest strap

24. And back toward the same armpit you just came from

25. Under that armpit

26. And across the chest, but this time to the opposite shoulder

27. Follow the estisting shoulder strap

28. And connect that tail into the existing knot at the back

29. Route the tail though the opposite side

30. So you solidly anchor it and can the pull it to the other armpit

31. Again from armpit across the chest...

32. to the opposite shoulder

33. Then back down and into the back knot

34. Pull the tail all the way through

35. Then lock the whole thing by pulling the tail up behind one (or both) of the should straps...

36. ...but leaving a little loop

37. Like this

38. And then pulling the tail through that loop.

39. This locks the harness nicely

40. This is the completed harness from the front

1. As with almost every other harness, start with a lark's head around the chest. This one below the breasts

2. Pull the tail up over the shoulder...

3. And down between the breasts

4. Place your first two fingers on top of the tail opposite the direction of tension

5. Slide those two fingers under the chest strap and grab the tail with a siccor grip...

6. And then pull the tail up and all the way through

7. Then pull the tail up to the other shoulder

8. Bring the tail to the back

9. Place two fingers under the chest strap on the opposite side

10. Again grab the rope with those fingers

11. And pull through

12. Now with the same move...

13. ...

14. Wrap the tail around one or both of the straps going over the shoulders

15. And begin wrapping the tail around to the front of the body...

16. Under the armpit...

17. And over the breasts this time

18. Continuing to the opposite armpit

19. And around to the back again

20. Using our two finger technique...
